What's the bottom line at your senior living center?

The answer is simple when MHES is your facility's environmental services partner!

Midwest Healthcare Environmental Services (MHES) is devoted to providing a healthy atmosphere for your residents as well as meeting the expectations of your staff and administrative personnel on a daily basis. As part of the Midwest Maintenance family of services tailored to the healthcare industry, our core competency is understanding the high quality standards that our partners must enforce in such sensitive environments. We focus on proactively working behind the scenes to prepare each resident room, waiting room and office area for the well-being of every person that comes into your senior living center. Your nursing staff needs clean and healthy environments in which to work, your residents need clean and healthy surroundings in which to live.

Our highly qualified team undergoes extensive background referrals, drug testing and specified training for the healthcare industry—including green clean processes, blood borne pathogens, pandemic preparation, biohazards, HIPAA regulations, resident room cleaning and isolation areas. All to comply with JCAHO and HIPAA standards, our employees must meet these requirements in order to work in your facility which is home to your clients.

Our expertise in the healthcare industry is what puts your facility ahead of the rest in regards to cleanliness protocol. Our standards are such that your facility is healthier and more comfortable for those working and living in it. Our broad range of services are tailored to fit the lifestyle options that your clients choose. With MHES as your partner, we will help you see green on your bottom line and in the cleanliness of your facility.
